2. Introduction

District Barwani was formed on 25th May 1998. It was carved out of West-Nimar, Khargone district. Barwani is situated on the south-west side of Madhya Pradesh and Holy River Narmada is its northern border. District is surrounded by Satpuda (in South) and Vindhya (in North) ranges.

The name Badwani originated from the forests of Bad which had surrounded the city in old times. Wani is the old word for the Garden, and hence city got its name Badwani which means Garden of Bads. Barwani is still pronounced as Badwani but it spells Barwani.

Town Barwani was the capital of old Barwani State before 1948. This small State was spared by British, Mughals and Marathas because of its rocky terrain and less productive soil. The Rana dynasty ruled the state through the history. The history of this dynasty goes back to 13th century.

Town Barwani was also known as Badnagar and Siddha Nagar. The place is also famous for Chool Giri, Jain pilgrimage centre of Bawangaja.

Barwani has a Historic Symbol which is known as TIR-GOLA. It is located at Khandwa-Baroda Road, in front of Sagar Vilas Palace and was built in the memory of late son of Raja Ranjit Singh.

Before Independence Barwani was known as 'The Paris of Nimar'.

3. District at a Glance

3.1 Location & Geographical Area

District is situated between Latitudes 21°37' to 22°22' North and Longitudes 74°27' to 75°30' East. State of Maharashtra in South, Gujarat in far West, district Khargone on the East and district Dhar on the North from boundaries of Barwani. District is triangular in shape with the highest point in West. The town Barwani is situated near the left bank of the Narmada River.

3.2 Topography

Barwani is surrounded by the great hills of Satpura and in the rainy days it becomes one of the most beautiful places in central India. The city is also called the Paris of Nimar. The Nimar region is split into East Nimar and West Nimar. Nimar, in local terms, means "area beyond the Neem Trees". Barwani lies in West Nimar. The annual rainfall of Barwani is around 15 inches. Barwani is famous for its Papitas and Bawangaja (a Jain holy place 8KM from Barwani)
